EHP To Host Legislative Breakfast in Harrisburg Launching White Paper: “Pennsylvania’s Shale Gas Boom: How Policy Decisions Failed to Protect Public Health and What We Can Do to Correct It”

The Environmental Health Project (EHP) will host a legislative breakfast and white paper launch at the Pennsylvania State Capitol in Harrisburg for members of the legislative and executive branches of Pennsylvania government. The white paper reflects 10 years of focused and ongoing research, investigations, and interaction with frontline communities.

Members of the media are welcome to attend. Speakers will be available for interviews following the event.

Date: Wednesday, April 13, 2022

Time: Breakfast will begin at 8:30 a.m. Presentation and Q&A from 9 to 10 a.m.

Place: Room G50 in the K. Leroy Irvis Office Building, Harrisburg, PA

During the event, EHP Executive Director Alison L. Steele will present a comprehensive new white paper:

Pennsylvania’s Shale Gas Boom: How Policy Decisions Failed to Protect Public Health and What We Can Do to Correct It

A Q&A session will take place following the brief presentation. A recording of the event will be made available afterward.

About the Environmental Health Project

The Environmental Health Project (EHP) is a nonprofit public health organization that defends public health in the face of shale gas development. We provide frontline communities with timely monitoring, interpretation, and guidance. We engage diverse stakeholders: health professionals, researchers, community organizers, public servants, and others. We do so because knowledge protects health.
